MOVANT: E&S Ring Management Corporation

Docket 9

Courtroom Deputy:

5/13/26 - Order Dismissing Involuntary Bankruptcy Case Pursuant to Order To Show Cause Entered

Tentative Ruling:

Bankruptcy Code section 362(d)(4) does not apply here, in that movant is a lessor and not a secured creditor; however, the Court has already found that this was a collusive involuntary filing. The court issued an order to show cause why the court should not make this finding based on the fact that none of the petitioners had requested the issuance of a summons, and they all held claims for "personal debts" in perfectly round amounts. No one opposed the OSC and no one appeared at the hearing on the OSC. Moreover, the opposition asks the court to refrain from entering an order that would prevent nondebtors and other third parties from obtaining an automatic stay in another bankruptcy case. Why would the debtor be concerned about an order that binds someone other than himself unless he were planning to continue the scheme to hinder, delay and defraud this creditor by arranging for yet another collusive filing?

Automatic stay has already terminated, as the case has been dismissed, but the motion is not moot in that it seeks prospective relief in future cases. Grant motion. Grant in rem relief for a period of 2 years.

fr: 5-26-26

Docket 2

Courtroom Deputy:

ZoomGov Appearance by:

6/1/26 - David Shevitz

6/1/26 - W. Sloan Youkstetter

Tentative Ruling:

At hearing held May 26, 2026, Court authorized use of cash collateral on an interim basis through the close of business on June 5, 2026 for the payment of post-petition expenses only up to a total of $526,133; provided, however, that debtor may make adequate protection payment(s) of up to $36,000 to Drive Fulfillment in exchange for the release of inventory that will produce receipts of not less than this amount. Lenders will receive replacement liens on post-petition collateral (excluding avoiding power recoveries). Court continued hearing to June 2, 2026 at 10:00 a.m. Debtor will serve notice of the continued hearing not later May 27, 2026. (Debtor served notice of continuance. Court entered interim order.) [Court calculated amount of cash collateral authorized by using the chart on pages 3 through 4 of docket no. 2, estimating the prepetition portion of the payment to WB blends at $60,366 and deducting this portion from the total and reducing the 3PL payment to Fulfillment Center from $45,000 to $36,000 and deducting the difference.]

Cont'd status conference -- February 3, 2026 at 2:00 p.m.
L/D to file joint status report -- January 20, 2026.

Tentative Ruling for February 3, 2026:

By bringing a 727 action, plaintiff has become a fiduciary for creditors generally. As a judgment for plaintiff in a 727 action would effectively moot the need for a 523 action to be prosecuted, and a judgment for plaintiff in a 523 action would undermine plaintiff's willingness to prosecute the 727 action, court will try the 727 first and separately. The discovery cutoff has now passed, as has the deadline for filing pretrial motions. Set date for pretrial conference.

Tentative Ruling for May 5, 2026:

Court has reviewed parties unilateral pretrial orders, which are substantially similar in many respects. Working from the defendant's pretrial order, the Court has a number of minor corrections that will be discussed on the record at the time of the pretrial conference. Counsel for the defendant should lodge revised pretrial order incorporating these comments, attach both parties' witness and exhibit lists (including any evidentiary objections that either party may wish to interpose to the other's proposed exhibits).

Court will set deadline for filing revised pretrial order, trial date and briefing schedule.

4/30/2026 -- Court approved stipulation continuing hearing to June 2, 2026 at 2:00 p.m. OFF CALENDAR FOR MAY 5, 2026.

Tentative Ruling for June 2, 2026:

As Judge Bluebond's law clerk explained, joint pretrial order should have been uploaded, not filed. (Local Rule directs counsel to comply with procedures of presiding judge. Judge Bluebond's variance statement explains this.) Facts and law should not be combined into a single section. Order is missing the language about the order superseding the pleadings. In short, the order should comply in all respects with LBR 7016-1(b). And is this still a unilateral pretrial order or have both sides approved the version that was filed (erroneously) on April 21, 2026?

The exhibit list refers to objections by the defendant that have been submitted as a unilateral document. Is that docket no. 67? In a number of instances, the objections assert that plaintiff has not provided copies of the relevant documents. And court agrees that the exhibits have not been described with any specificity. Are the documents batestamped? Have all documents been exchanged?

Tentative Ruling:

10/6/2025 -- Court approved stipulation continuing hearing to November 25, 2025 at 2:00 p.m. (See order for additional dates.) OFF CALENDAR FOR OCTOBER 14, 2025.

Tentative Ruling for November 25, 2025:

Although causes of action that once belonged to the debtor and certain causes of action that once belonged to creditors now belong to the chapter 7 trustee, that does not necessarily mean that other parties in interest are precluded from conducting discovery, provided that they are still appropriate parties in interest in this action. (And, if they are not, discovery could be conducted by way of a 2004 examination.)

Ms. Tsagolova contends that she and the debtor jointly own assets that are held in the names of others. Suren is one of those others. Although the debtor's rights have passed to the trustee, Ms. Tsagolova's rights, if any, presumably did not. Therefore, it does appear that she retains standing to obtain discovery that Suren was ordered to provide prepetition.

Court cannot hold Suren in contempt for failing to pay the balance of the monetary sanctions without finding that he has the financial ability to pay these amounts. There is no declaration that the Court was able to locate evidencing that Suren lacks the financial ability to pay. All discussions of the partial payment that Suren made refer to an explanation that was being provided with the partial payment that is presumably based on Suren's contention that he is entitled to a setoff. Court is not aware of any authority for the proposition that a party ordered to pay monetary sanctions is entitled to offset against the amounts he was ordered to pay amounts that he claims are due from the payee. If Suren does not want to be held in contempt for failing to pay the balance of the sanctions due, he will need to provide evidence of his inability to make the payment.

With regard to the production of documents, the Court is sympathetic to Suren's physical and psychological issues, but he will need to devise a way to produce the requested documents notwithstanding his issues. (The Court is more interested in causing the documents to be produced at this point than it is in punishing Suren for failing to have produced them previously.) Suren should be able to provide someone else (his attorney, perhaps, or another family member) with access to his records wherever they may be maintained so that, even in his absence, that person can go through his records and produce any responsive documents. Or perhaps it would make more sense for Ms. Tsagalova and the trustee's counsel to be given access to the records in the manner in which they are maintained, but one way or the other, any responsive documents need to be produced.

Hearing required.

Final Ruling for November 25, 2025:

The tentative ruling became the Court's final ruling. Continue hearing to January 28, 2026 at 11:00 a.m. Suren (or his counsel) should serve and file a report on how he intends to proceed in an effort to comply with the Court's order not later than January 14, 2026. Any party in interest may serve and file a response thereto not later than January 21, 2026 (or simply discuss its

Tentative Ruling for January 28, 2026:

Order to show cause was initially entered in September of 2025 and has been continued at least twice. Suren has had more than ample opportunity to provide the responses that he has already been ordered to produce. At the last hearing, the Court merely ordered him to provide a status report setting forth a game plan for how he intended to comply with the Court's order requiring these responses. The Court has received nothing whatsoever. The Court is aware that his wife has recently sought to have herself appointed as his conservator, but this situation is not news to her either.

Hold Suren in contempt for failure to comply with court orders requiring him to respond to the first set of requests for production, requests for admissions and interrogatories. Enter order deeming each of the 64 facts at issue in the requests for admission to be admitted such that they cannot be controverted by further evidence or testimony; renewing the requirement that he pay the unpaid sanctions imposed by Judge Kazadi in the amount of $5,820 and awarding Natalia additional monetary sanctions of $6,800 as compensation for the costs incurred in prosecuting this motion.

Final Ruling for January 28, 2026:

Continue hearing to February 25, 2026 at 11:00 a.m. Suren (with his wife's assistance) will serve responses not later than February 20, 2026 to Interrogatories, document production requests and RFAs. Objections have been waived. (Court entered interim order to this effect on February 9, 2026.)

Final Ruling for January 28, 2026:

See interim order entered February 9, 2026. Suren's responses (with assistance of his wife) were due on February 20, 2026. Court reserved issue of monetary sanctions and any other relief necessary to obtain responses to discovery requests and continued hearing to February 25, 2026 at 11:00 a.m.

Tentative Ruling for June 2, 2026:
